Our Story...

How do we measure success in our schools?

Is success only academic?

What areas do we measure success in?

SAFETY

Classroom Audio

- Students that can hear perform better.
 - Staying on Task.
 - Maximizing Instructional time.
 - Key for early developmental years.
 - ESL Students.
 - Supports Small Group instruction.
- Teacher Benefits
 - Reduced fatigue
 - Reduced absenteeism
 - Reduced long term vocal damage.

School Safety

- School safety is a necessity and a concern for everyone.
- Students can't learn and teachers can't be affective if they are not SAFE.
- The need for discretely alerting front office and administration is a necessity.
- A system that is integrated into the school's communications infrastructure is a critical for seamless escalation and automation.

Campus Communications and IPB

- A successful administrator at a school can make timely changes to the schedule and use of areas of the school.
- Administrator needs a system that supports maximizing instructional time for teachers and allowing for flexibility to support the educational process.
- This same systems needs to support the safety needs of the school and provide emergency communications and automated controls when necessary.
- Ability to provide changes without additional expense and integrated with other facility systems.

Growing Better Teachers

- The teacher is key to the classroom
- We have some amazing teachers in our school
- We need to allow those teachers to help other teachers become better.
- Administration needs a way to provide valid and valued feedback that is collaborative.
